ON THE FARM

Read this column and you can have it delivered at your house with something new every week for a full year by sending $2.00 to this office now. Never throw fruit of any kind into a basket or box. Lay it in gently.

If a poultryman or a farmer does not take an interest in poultry, he had better not keep any at all.

Of course, the fruit must have more or less shade, but nature will take care of that after intelligent pruning has been done.

Those farmers who kept up their cultivation of the soil not only kept the corn over the dry spell but increased the yield.

If milk is kept in a cool place and stays sweet too long, it will be bitter and the result is that the cream will make strong butter.

Don't neglect to grease the wagons that do the regular work about the farm. Hard oil is cheaper than horseflesh and a lot more humane.

A young sow seldom has as many pigs as an older one, they are seldom as large or as strong, neither does she take as good care of them as does the experienced mother.

Keep in mind that if your silo is partly filled with Indian corn or any other crop, you can later finish filling it with any other crop or crops which you may grow and in this manner get your silo full.

Now is the proper time to make provision for warm shelter for the stock during the coming winter. Bear in mind that boards are cheaper than feed. While you are about it do not forget that antiquated poultry house that offers so little obstruction to the wind.

Dr. Hopkins, Illinois soil expert, has hammered home the theory that you cannot keep taking everything out of the soil without putting something back. His dictum has been justified by the recent experiments conducted by the University of Illinois, which show that with the use of phosphorus crops have been doubled.

Preparation to raise a large crop of corn should begin in the fall of the previous year. Plowing for the crop should by all means be done the fall before if possible. Wood seeds will sprout and be killed by frost. Insects that are hibernating in the ground will meet the same fate. Frost is one of the farmer's best friends in many ways.

Save out for breeding a few yearling cockerels. Many poultrymen have found that a small young cock gives better results in breeding than an older and larger bird. Young stock, of good breed, can be bought at the cheapest rates, as breeders wish to save the expenses of winter raising.

When the fowls are brought in from free range they should be put in the quarters that have been provided for them for the winter without a change. Fowls that are maturing to the laying point are very sensitive to changes. They should be put in the pens that they are to occupy in flocks of 20, 50 or 100, at the owner's wish. But once in the houses they should not again be changed. Allow them to become accustomed to the house where they are to remain during their laying life. Any excitement tends to cut down egg production as well as retard it.

In planting apple trees, a fine, well-grown one-year tree that is a fair example of its particular variety, has a no-headed quality which leaves nothing to be desired. There are several advantages in choosing the younger tree. Their roots are unutilized, they can be more quickly planted, they can be trained to any form desired, whereas the older tree is already headed by the nurseryman, and is liable in many cases to have a very undesirable form of head, necessitating entire remodeling by the orchardist and it is sometimes no small task to get such a tree just right.

OPTIMISM A LARGE ASSET.
Those farmers who have joined a live, active, progressive Grange and have become workers therein, to better their conditions and increase happiness and profit, have learned that a happy way of looking at things is one of the largest assets that a man can carry with him into and through life. The business world is on the lookout for men who have faith and courage, since these are necessary to the completion of the tasks the age has set for itself. Optimism, backed by common sense and industry, is today the surest resource a man can have. It widens his circle of friends, it enhances his credit. It takes him over the times of stress, when the man whose heart is misgiving him fails. It is not for sale on the market, but it adds to the commercial and social and moral worth of a man.—National Lecturer Oliver Wilson.

A Dollar's Day.

One more silver dollar woke inside Sam Snyder's clothes. And softly to itself it spoke, "Oh, where do you suppose I'll sleep tonight? Perhaps away from here in alien lands—For, if Sam goes to town today, I surely will change hands."

At six Sam started for the town. At eight the coin was spent. In Parson's store Sam laid it down. Then over hills he went. To see the farm of Walter Chase, A model of its kind. (For some such barn for his own place Sam Snyder had in mind.)

Not long in Parson's busy till The dollar had a rest. For Sam was hardly up the hill Before the coin was pressed in Humphrey's hand to fix. That day had cast a shoe; And so the dollar kept its course To other people, too.

Until it came to Henry Black. Now, meanwhile, Sam that day Had seen the barn and started back. Along his homeward way. His good wife met him with a kiss And said to him, "See here—While you were gone a man left this He owed to you, my dear."

"He said of corn a while ago. Now, I have a sack; His name (of course, you want to know)—His name was Henry Black."

Snyder's wife met him with a kiss And what do you suppose?—The self-same dollar that some night Still slept in Snyder's clothes.

Steam-Kissed Oranges.

The final ripening process in the preparation of California oranges for the market is the exposure of the fruit to steam vapor, which imparts the golden yellow color described on the labels by "sun kissed" and other appetizing terms. Electric heat is employed to a large extent in producing this steam vapor, electric immersion coils in open tanks of water in the ripening rooms producing the warm humidity required to give the final tint to the orange if commerce—Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette.

Natural History.

"Why, sir," said Mr. Dustin Stax "do you call me an amphibian?" "I refer to your method of capitalization."

"But I have developed the resources of the land."

"Yes. But when you get tired of the land you take to water."

Origin of Bedlam.

Bedlam is a name derived from Bethlehem hospital in London, which was used as early as the first years of the sixteenth century for the reception of distracted persons, had very limited resources, and frequently discharged patients who were not yet cured.

Complimentary Matinee.

The Old Colony Driving Club has arranged for an extensive program of races
at the fair grounds next Thursday, "Columbus Day."
By courtesy of the club this will be a complimentary benefit day to the Weymouth Agricultural and Industrial Society and is deemed to be a large patronage.
At its recent fair, as well as at those of the past, the association demonstrated its right to live and its right to a more liberal support.

Various and sundry organizations and individuals are constantly crying "bloom the town." The agricultural interest of Weymouth can be made a large factor in the "bloom" business and there is no better agency through which to do it than the Weymouth Agricultural and Industrial Society.

Monday Club.

At its first meeting of the season of 1911
the Monday Club celebrated its fiftieth birthday in a most fitting and delightful way. In spite of threatening weather a large and enthusiastic audience greeted the former club presidents who had been invited to give the address of their club in the first work of the club.

Mrs. Charlotte Lovell, Prime, the first president, came from New York, to tell
of the origin, ideals and early endeavors,
which she did in a most charming and gracious manner.

A note of greeting was read from the second president, Mrs. James B. Jones.
Mrs. Josiah Pratt and Mrs. Worthen spoke pleasantly of the relations with the club and its work during their terms of service.

Mrs. Thayer read an original poem,
"Woman's Sphere An Ideal."
Miss Lillian Maynard and Mrs. Jennie Worster told of the later years of the club life. Mrs. Worster putting her remarks in the form of verse, making a bright and amusing finish to the series.

There was interspersed some most delightful music by the Brooks trio, piano,
cello and violin.

The impression left by each and all of the speakers was that the Monday club has been and should continue to be more than a mere means of entertainment or social enjoyment. As Mrs. Thayer expressed it
"The club should be a power in the community for furthering the town's progress
as well as the health and happiness of its members."

Mrs. Albert Humphrey was the social hostess and by her efforts the hall was made unusually attractive with ferns and palms on the platform and masses of beautiful dahlias and other fall flowers on the refreshment tables, adding much to the delightful lunch hour feasting the eyes as well as the palate. May the club have many such happy birthday anniversaries.

Social Club Supper.

The first Social club supper of the season was held in the banquet room of the Union church of Weymouth and Brant-le last Wednesday evening, and despite unfavorable weather about seventy percent were present. The supper was in charge of a committee of ladies under the chairmanship of Mrs. C. T. Crane. The ladies assisted the chairman in preparing the supper and serving the guests. Mrs.
J. F. Sheppard, Mrs. S. F. Wentworth,
Mrs. S. D. Ford, Mrs. G. B. Decker, Mrs.
A. E. French, Mrs. Elmer E. Carr,
Miss Nellie E. Bolles, Miss Elizabeth
Gillespie, Miss Grace B. Crane, Miss
Flora Hearn, Miss Edith Wilde, Miss Helen Hunt, Miss Dorothy Taylor and Miss Edith Newman.

After the supper, a business meeting of the club was held and with great regret the resignation of its president, Mrs. G.
W. Thikan, was accepted. Committee reports were given and plans for the future work of the club discussed. There was no stated programme of entertainment but the time was passed in pleasant social intercourse and meeting the new members.

The new electric stereopticon purchased last spring has been tested and found to work satisfactorily. A complete demonstration will be given on the evening of October 25th, when George L. Parker of Salem, will give his illustrated lecture on "Personal Experiences in Russia," before the men of the parish and their guests.

MAN CHARGED WITH KILLING FOUND IN BOSTON.

Nicholas Cassette Of Carroll Street East
Weymouth, Beaten And Choked, Died Early Monday Morning From Injuries.

In a fight last Sunday, which is alleged to have started by Peter Cassette of Lake-street East Weymouth at the home of his brother Nicholas Cassette of Carroll street, the latter is dead from painful injuries inflicted by Peter and the assailant is lodged in jail awaiting trial on the charge of killing his brother.

Last Sunday afternoon, on Francis
the father of the two men in the fight,
said Peter went to the home of his brother
Nicholas on Carroll street looking for trouble.
Nicholas was away at the time and when he returned it is alleged that Peter who had waited for his brother's return, savagely attacked Nicholas and he in turn, the ground, after getting him down, the father said, Peter jumped on his brother and choked him and planted his knee heavily in the fallen man's abdomen.

After severely injuring Nicholas, it is said that Peter left the house, while Francisco and neighbors called a physician and had the injured man looked after.
The physician said at once that the man was severely beaten and later reported the matter to the police. After a night of injury suffering, Nicholas died at 7:15 on Monday morning.

Word was immediately sent out to surrounding towns to keep watch for the fugitive and on Monday evening, he was taken into custody by Boston officers at Northampton and Washington streets in Boston and held until the arrival of the local police.

It is said that Peter appeared at one of the local factories Monday morning but left shortly afterward. However, this story cannot be verified.

The police say the two men have quarreled many times before, but never so violently as on last Sunday. Peter, it is said, was intoxicated and was aroused to a frenzy during the short fight with his brother.

The brothers were shoemakers in local factories. Nicholas was unmarried and Peter's wife died about four years ago,
leaving four children in Peter's care.
These children were placed in the St.
Vincent de Paul Orphan Asylum about two months ago.

Peter Cassette is 28 years old and his brother was 25 years of age.

Drinking Fountains.

There is much inquiry around town as to why the several drinking fountains are out of commission or allowed to remain
dry. Some are censuring the selectmen for this condition, some the inspector of cattle and others the board of health,
while the facts are as will be seen by the following letters that neither is responsible is quite evident that Mr. Walker, chief of the Cattle Bureau, has been misinformed to a certain extent as to the real condition of affairs.

While it is true that some time ago there was a few cases of glanders in East Weymouth but never to the extent as quoted and they were immediately attended to.

It would seem by the information we get from the town authorities and the tone of the letters we publish from Mr.
Walker to Mr. Hunt, chairman of the selectmen, that some one has been over zealous
in regard to the drinking fountains.

Boston, Sept. 29, 1911.
Mr. Edward W. Hunt,
Chairman Board of Selectmen,
Weymouth, Mass.,
Dear Sir:

I understand that you have called this office on the telephone several times relating to the keeping of the watering troughs in Weymouth closed for a while longer. If I understand correctly, you were anxious to know why they could not be opened at this time.

In reply I would say that merely shutting off the water for a period of a fortnight would have no beneficial effect whatever in a case of this kind. It seems to me that unless the water can be kept out of the trough for at least two months or longer, no good would result from this one effort toward the further spread of the disease. I must insist that the troughs remain dry for at least a month longer,
and if to the end of November no increasing number of glanders are found in Weymouth,
I will then grant permission to have them
once more put in use.

Yours respectfully,
FRED F. WALKER,
Chief of Cattle Bureau.

Boston, Oct. 2, 1911.
Mr. E. W. Hunt,
Chairman Board of Selectmen,
Weymouth, Mass.,
Dear Sir:

In further explanation of my intention of keeping the watering troughs in Weymouth closed at this time, I would say that within the last few months Humphrey Bros. have lost something like nine horses with glanders, and there have been one or two other cases reported from that part of your town as well. It is because I believe that all of these horses
had probably watered freely at the Washington Square trough, and because I am afraid that other cases not yet known to this office may be travelling around in the bad cases, in order to feed water that all the bad cases had been rounded up, and one of the best steps that I could take at this time to keep away from the troughs
horses which may be developing glanders.

Yours respectfully,
FRED F. WALKER,
Chief of Cattle Bureau.

TO AILING WOMEN.

A Little Sound Advice Will Help Many a Sufferer in Weymouth.

No woman can be healthy and well if the kidneys are sick. Poisons that pass off in the urine when the kidneys are retained in the body when the kidneys are sick. This is the true cause of many boiling-down pains, lameness, backache,
etc. Urine poisoning also causes headaches, dizzy spells, languor, nervousness and rheumatic pain.

When suffering so, try Doan's Kidney Pills. You will get better as the kidneys get better, and health will return when the kidneys get well. Let a fellow sufferer tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Eugene Davidson, 143 Ford Street, Brookline, Mass., says: "The statement
given in 1908 by a member of my family
in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good. This remedy has been of great benefit. You are welcome to continue publishing my former testimonial, as the cure Doan's Kidney Pills effected at that time has been permanent."

OLD FOLKS GATHER AGAIN

17th Annual Reunion of Old Folk's
Association Held in Union Church
Wednesday.

Seventeen years ago, Rev. Mr. Clancy,
then pastor of the Union church in South Weymouth, started an association known as the Old Folk's Association and on last Wednesday, the seventeenth annual gathering of the society took place in the Union church, and although the weather was anything but suitable for going out of doors, over a hundred guests were present
when dinner was served in the large vestry of the church.

Carrriages and automobiles were used to convey the guests to the church from a distance and all during the morning acquaintances were renewed and old times talked over.

As the guests arrived they were taken charge of by the able reception committee and escorted into the auditorium of the church where, after discussing themselves
of their rainy weather apparel, they
roamed around and met old "chums" as
only life long friends can do.

The reception committee of the day was as follows: Rev. L. W. Atwood, Mrs. Atwood, Rev. H. C. Alvord, Mrs.
A. H. Heald, Mrs. R. W. Hunt, Mrs. L.
Cook, Mrs. F. F. Bullock, Mrs. Frances
Feeling, Mrs. Gordon Willis, Miss F.
Adelaide McCarthy, Miss Lina Lund and Miss M. Anna Cady.

In accordance with the usual custom,
the church was tastefully decorated with autumn leaves and flowers and the much praised choir, after discussing themselves
of their rainy weather apparel, they
roamed around and met old "chums" as
only life long friends can do.

The annual meeting of the Y. P. S. C.
U. connected with the Universalist church
was held in their church last Tuesday evening. It was an event which will be long remembered, not only by the members of
the above society but by all who had any
part in it.

Last evening the republicans turned out
a respectable number of men and marched
around the square, calling in front of the residence of W. O. Collyer, where an American flag, bearing the names of Harrison and Reid and Haile and Wolcott,
was unfurled.

The annual meeting of the First Baptist church occurred Tuesday evening, October
4th. Mr. E. H. Graves was made pastor.
Mr. M. R. Wright was chosen clerk, and
Dea. S. W. Guterson, treasurer. Messrs.
M. R. Wright, G. Fairbanks and Fred
Dow were chosen as standing committee.

At last the so-called Middle street school
will have a name. It has been formally named after the great framer of the Declaration of Independence and through the illability of Mr. D. M. Easton this fact
will shortly be announced in raised letters
of gold in the front of the building.

The removal of the books to the new building was completed in season for the opening as announced, on Thursday, and
a great many visitors thronged the rooms
during the afternoon and evening, 620
books being given out.

All the schools of Weymouth will celebrate Columbus Day. The programme is
not fully arranged but will be announced
in due season. The school children will
have exercises of their own in their room,
which it is proposed to gather the school
children of each ward together in mass
meetings. The Grand Army are expected to participate.

The list of officers elected for the coming year are as follows: President, H.
Wilbur Dyer; Vice President, Howard H.
Joy; Sec. & Treas., Miss Florence K.
Hoy; Musical Director, Bates Torrey;
Executive Committee, A. B. Raymond,
G. Forrest Torrey, Mrs. Frank
Thomas, Mrs. Nathan Bates, H. S. Stow-
ers and Frank E. Lund.

Weymouth Board of Trade.

The October meeting of the Board of Trade was held, as usual, last night in Massachusetts building and proved to be
of more than usual interest.

The president, W. P. Denbroeder, was in the chair and the routine business was followed by a discussion of the Electric Light question, and the city that more
people could not have got the direct benefit of the hour. The president explained
the object in selecting this subject and in
speaking of the relative cost of light in Hingham and Weymouth it was shown
that figures, as sometimes quoted, are not
fair as in the one instance the town maintains the plant and what the people do not
pay directly for light they pay in taxes
for maintenance, while in the other the
company maintains its plant and as was shown by Russell B. Worster chairman of the Electric Light committee a good part
of this is a gross outrage and not very credit-
able to boys of a larger growth, we allude
to the malice and wilful breaking of
lamps which cost the Electric Light Co.
several hundred dollars a year and there
are several places notably in the vicinity
of the High School where it is most impossible to keep a lamp in commission,
even lamps being broken on one pole
within the past few months.

George W. Perry, superintendent of the Electric Light Co., furnished much valuable information as to the service as did
also D. M. Easton, a member of the board of directors. The discussion was made interesting by inquiries from L. A.
Cook and which were answered and explained by Mr. Perry.

The following list of people sat down
to dinner:

Want It All for Themselves.
There are men who love liberty so much that they not only grow selfish
but actually do get excited when some one else dares to suggest that others
should be allowed the right to enjoy
the use of some of it.

Following Are a Few of the Items Which Appeared in the Gazette Years Ago T. Is Well.

THIRTY TWO YEARS AGO.
The receipts for the Fair of the Agricultural Society have come in till they exceed $4200, the largest amount ever taken at our fair of the Society.

G-se were flying from the north in large numbers the first part of this week
a reminder that should be in order, as well as the laying in of a winter's supply of coal.

On Saturday evening, Oct. 4th, Mr.
and Mrs. Ansel Barrell observed the 25th anniversary of their marriage, and a goodly number of guests met to congratulate them and enjoy the festivities.

Pears have been so abundant this season that many fruit growers have placed baskets of that fruit in the public way placarding them "Free to all," that they might dispose of their surplus before it decayed.

A large and enthusiastic body of the friends and supporters of General Butler met in Crane's hall, Weymouth, last Tuesday evening and set the political ball in motion by forming an independent Butler Club.

Mr. John Campbell, while grading the yard around J. W. Bartlett's new house on Wednesday last week, received so severe a sun stroke that he was not able to work for two days. The glass stood at 88, and the heat was intense.

At the meeting of the Gen. Bates Engine Co. last Monday evening, they voted to deposit $800 in the East Weymouth Savings Bank. Messrs. John P. Lovell and William Humphrey were admitted as honorary members. The "stock" of the Bates is still on the rise.

NINETEEN YEARS AGO.
Smells have made their appearance in the river in large numbers in the Williams caught 41 dozens at Sheppard's wharf, yesterday.

Rev. H. C. Alvord, one of the two delegates chosen to represent the churches of our conference at the National Triennial Council at Minneapolis, Minn., leaves
for the west the first of the week.

At the regular monthly meeting of the South Shore Co-operative bank, held at the Banking rooms Monday evening, $1200 was sold at a premium of 15 cents per share, and a semi-annual dividend of 34 per cent was declared.

The first anniversary of the Y. P. S. C.
U. connected with the Universalist church
was held in their church last Tuesday evening. It was an event which will be long remembered, not only by the members of
the above society but by all who had any
part in it.

Last evening the republicans turned out
a respectable number of men and marched
around the square, calling in front of the residence of W. O. Collyer, where an American flag, bearing the names of Harrison and Reid and Haile and Wolcott,
was unfurled.

The annual meeting of the First Baptist
church occurred Tuesday evening, October
4th. Mr. E. H. Graves was made pastor.
Mr. M. R. Wright was chosen clerk, and
Dea. S. W. Guterson, treasurer. Messrs.
M. R. Wright, G. Fairbanks and Fred
Dow were chosen as standing committee.

At last the so-called Middle street school
will have a name. It has been formally
named after the great framer of the Declaration of Independence and through the illability of Mr. D. M. Easton this fact
will shortly be announced in raised letters
of gold in the front of the building.

The removal of the books to the new
building was completed in season for the
opening as announced, on Thursday, and
a great many visitors thronged the rooms
during the afternoon and evening, 620
books being given out.

All the schools of Weymouth will celebrate Columbus Day. The programme is
not fully arranged but will be announced
in due season. The school children will
have exercises of their own in their room,
which it is proposed to gather the school
children of each ward together in mass
meetings. The Grand Army are expected
to participate.

The list of officers elected for the coming year are as follows: President, H.
Wilbur Dyer; Vice President, Howard H.
Joy; Sec. & Treas., Miss Florence K.
Hoy; Musical Director, Bates Torrey;
Executive Committee, A. B. Raymond,
G. Forrest Torrey, Mrs. Frank
Thomas, Mrs. Nathan Bates, H. S. Stow-
ers and Frank E. Lund.

The October meeting of the Board of Trade was held, as usual, last night in Massachusetts building and proved to be
of more than usual interest.

The president, W. P. Denbroeder, was
in the chair and the routine business was
followed by a discussion of the Electric Light question, and the city that more
people could not have got the direct benefit of the hour. The president explained
the object in selecting this subject and in
speaking of the relative cost of light in Hingham and Weymouth it was shown
that figures, as sometimes quoted, are not
fair as in the one instance the town maintains the plant and what the people do not
pay directly for light they pay in taxes
for maintenance, while in the other the
company maintains its plant and as was
shown by Russell B. Worster chairman of
the Electric Light committee a good part
of this is a gross outrage and not very credit-
able to boys of a larger growth, we allude
to the malice and wilful breaking of
lamps which cost the Electric Light Co.
several hundred dollars a year and there
are several places notably in the vicinity
of the High School where it is most impossible to keep a lamp in commission,
even lamps being broken on one pole
within the past few months.

George W. Perry, superintendent of the Electric Light Co., furnished much valuable information as to the service as did
also D. M. Easton, a member of the board of directors. The discussion was made interesting by inquiries from L. A.
Cook and which were answered and explained by Mr. Perry.

GATHERED UP.

Success does not "chappen." It is the result of organized, concentrated common sense.

People who converse at the top of their voices are not consequently high T. ned.

Good nature is more agreeable in conversation than wit and it gives that to the countenance which is more pleasing than beauty.

The complaint is heard on all sides that the public schools do not prepare men and women for their life work and in many quarters there is a demand for vocational and trade schools to fill this want.

"Isn't it against the law to be loud and boisterous in the street?"
"It is," replied Mr. Changelin, "unless you do so with a mechanical screwdriver
attached to a motor car."—Washington Star.

The trouble with most men is that they want to be at the bat all the time and are never willing to do any thing else.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Let us work and stimulate every legiti-mate enterprise by giving it all the friendly encouragement we can, and unite
our industry, intelligence and capital in a common cause for the good of our town
—Easton Bulletin.

"When a young man has not learned to dance and prefers to sit out the numbers and the young ladies object, what should he do?"
"It seems to me a man should either learn to dance or learn to talk."

ABLE AND WILLING.
The Actor—Freddie, do you know where little boys go who go fishing on the Sabbath day?
Freddie—Yes, sir. Follow me and I'll show you the place.

When we look upon the armies of the unemployed we take it for granted that the majority of the members were reduced through idleness or dissipation,
but I'll bet that if a census were taken it would be found that about half of them were on their uppers because they fooled
with politics and neglected their legiti-mate work.

"Son, how would you like to enter a relay event?"
"Fine, dad. I was a star at relay events in college."
"So I've heard you say. Well, your ma is about ready to relay the carpets."— Kansas City Journal.

Mrs. Goodsole—Why, Johnny, are you just going home now? Your mother has been looking for you all afternoon.
Johnny—Yes, I know.
Mrs. Goodsole—Just think how worried
she must be!

"You say there are people who object to my marrying you? I asked the young man, 'Who are they?'
"But they can be reasoned with."
"My brothers."
"We can defy them."
"I know, but there is still another."
"Who is that?"
"My fiancée."

"They say the minister preached against the folly of modern fashions on Sunday."
"He did, and his sermon made him
more popular than ever."
"But I understand that he mentioned the women by name and told how much he thought their spring dresses and bon-nets cost."

"So he did, but in each instance he overestimated the cost of things, and the women are delighted."
"What was the hitch?" inquired the other.

"Well, every one of those receipts begin in the same way with the same words.
Every one said, 'Take a clean dish, and I never got no further.'—Tit-Bits.

GATHERED UP.

The fruit of success ripens slowly.
Our houses are like instruments of music, of which a single discordant string destroys the sweetness.
"When does any one think most seriously about marrying?"
"After marriage."
"What's your dog's name, little boy?"
"Ginger."
"Does he bite?"
"No, supe."

"The best part of a vacation is the looking forward to it," broadly remarks the young man.
And his considerate employer, generously wishing to prolong that pleasure, postponed his vacation until next summer.—Puck.

Every knock is a boost, and when you hear of a concern that is knocked by its competitors, you will find it safe to send for its catalogue, just to learn why it is getting business.—Printers' Ink.

Garbide—This European guidebook leaves out one important piece of information.
Huide—What's that?
Garbide—How to make the money to pay for the tour.—Newark News.

"You say you charge extra for summer boarders who are trying to reduce their weight?"
"Yes," replied Farmer Corantosell.
"I have to. They always develop the biggest appetites."

"My wife and myself had another foolish quarrel."
"About what?"
"About where we would go if we had money enough to travel."—Washington Herald.

"The last time I met you I think you had taken a great fancy to the daughter of the house."
"Oh, yes, but that didn't last long."
"So you changed your mind?"
"No; I married her."

Old Silas from up-State, was visiting the Museum of Natural History. As he passed before a case an attendant volunteered:
"That collection of stuffed birds is worth thousands and thousands of dollars."
"What are they stuffed with?"

Kind words produce their own image in men's souls. They soothe and quiet, and comfort the hearer. They shame him out of his sour, morose, unkind feelings. We have not yet begun to use kind words in such abundance as they ought to be used.

"Henry, what do the papers mean when they speak of suspicious characters?"
"What is a suspicious character?"
"Well, if you notice a policeman keeping his eye on a person, that person must be a suspicious character."
"I am going to discharge our cook at once."

Whatever you lend, let it be your money not your name. Money you may get again and, if not, you may contrive to do with it; but your name once lost you cannot get again, and if you contrive to do without it you had better never be born.

Hanson—How did you come to marry the widow Bonoeur instead of her daughter?
"I thought it was the daughter you were after. Hanson—Well, so I was, to tell the truth, but when I asked Marie to marry me one day she said, 'Ask mamma,' and when I started to do it I stammered so with nervousness that mamma said 'Yes' before I had the question out."

Mayor Speer of Denver was talking about a bill of which he disapproved.
"Why, a bill like that," he said, "would soon put the city in the condition of the Cinnaminson Scimitar."
"The foreman of the Scimitar's composing room said to the proprietor one day:
"We need a draw-r, boss, to put these blocks in."
"We haven't got a drawer that's not in use," said the editor-proprietor. Then he paused and added, "Except the cash drawer. You might as well take that."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"Be you the elevator conductor?" asked Uncle Joshua, who had strayed into town out of the sweet rusticity of a comic paper.
"Yes, sir," grinned the boy.
"Well, I come ter this village ter see the high buildin'. How high up d'ye go?"

"To the top—twenty-first floor."
"Take me up to th' twentieth. Show me th' use o' riskin' my life an' goin' all the hull way when the folks to home'll never believe I went any higher than ten stories, no matter what I tell 'em?"

As the car slowed up on approaching a station one of the men rose and started for the door.
"Just a minute, Tom," called the first. And as Tom returned he whispered, "how far would you have been if I hadn't called you?"
But Tom straightened up with a dignified air and starting for the door, replied in a clear voice, "Sorry, old fellow, but I can't spare it. And, besides, you know you haven't paid me the last fiver you borrowed yet."

Tom's friend dismissed his journey in another compartment—London Ideas.

Shoe Industry.
A featureless, but still healthy, activity is developing in the boot and shoe trade, all along the line. The coming of cooler weather has stimulated the retail trade, which has set in motion all the wheels between the customer and the manufacturer. The shops are getting at their work on 1912 goods and while not very active are doing enough to show that the business is alive, and they are buying leather. While their purchases are not in large blocks, there are enough blocks to make a fair volume of business. Transactions are gauged by the requirements and until spring orders increase, will the taking of leather be important, but all indications are for a good business.

The movement of Russia calf leather is the brightest spot in the business. The demand for this stock has been excessive. One tanning establishment reports making contracts for future delivery of 16,000 down of Russia calfskins and then the demand was not met; other concerns are having all they want to do in this line.

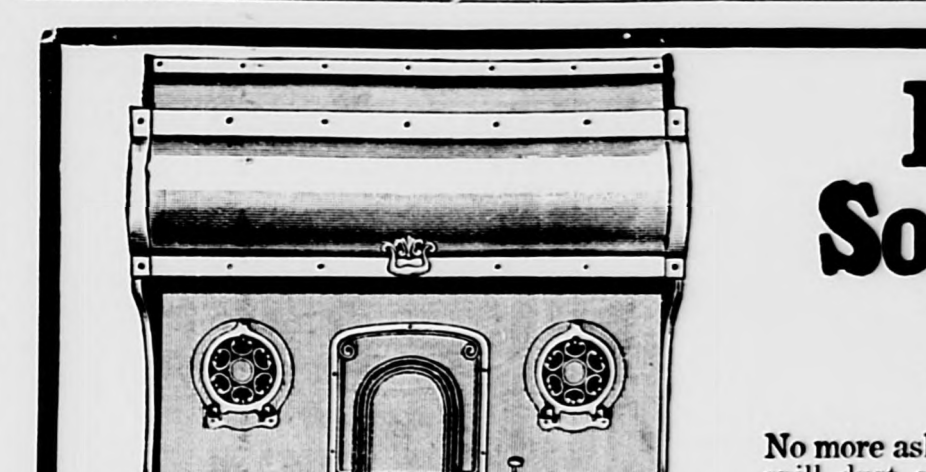

The activity of the trade is general. Philadelphia is feeling the effects of fall weather by improved sales in retail stores. St. Louis is in receipt of orders from the great surrounding territory supplied. Chicago is doing more business than for some weeks; in fact, in the past two weeks more orders have been received than in any two weeks this year.

There has been a steady development in the design and patterns of boots and shoes, and the American product has led the world; but probably there has never been more rapid improvement than in the recent years, especially in the boots and for women, and this is due to the influence of the short skirt.

The present tendency of fashion is toward lower heels on women's shoes, but there is a wide field for choice of heights and shapes. The wearer dictates according to taste, stature and comfort, but there is a feeling among men of the high and narrow heel of women's shoes is more liable to catch and trip the wearer than the broader and lower types. Dealers in shoes are beginning to adopt a custom of changing heels from one pattern to another to suit the customer's requirements.

Under the present and probable future conditions which are governing the leather market, the use of fabrics will be more extensive in the manufacture of shoes. Since a wider field of cloths was opened, manufacturers of suitable cloths have been experimenting in developing new and durable weaves, especially for shoe manufacturing. It hardly seems possible that fabrics will be abandoned as a natural material for shoes. Unless radical changes are effected in the production of leathers from animals' skins or very durable artificial leathers are invented, the field for cloths as a shoe material would seem to be undisturbed.

Under such circumstances the increased use of fabrics in shoes for both men and women may be expected, and the way that some manufacturers are turning out fabric shoes for women for fall wear, indicates that cloth shoes are not mere passing birds of summer, but are here to stay, and their all-the-year-round use is limited only by climatic and metropolitan conditions.

Here's Something New
No more ashes to lug. No clumsy pan to spill dust and dirt on the kitchen floor.

The Glenwood Ash Chute
solves the problem. It is located just beneath the grate and connected by a sheet iron pipe straight down through the kitchen floor to ash barrel in cellar. No part is in sight. Not a particle of dust can escape. Just slide the damper once each day and drop the ashes directly into the ash barrel.

The Dust Tight Cover
to barrel is another entirely new Glenwood idea and is very ingenious. The Ash Chute is sold complete with barrel and all connections, as illustrated, at a moderate price to fit any cabinet style Glenwood. This is only one of the splendid improvements of the Plain Cabinet Glenwood the Range without ornamentation or fancy nickel. "The Mission Style" Glenwood. Every essential refined and improved upon.

Up-To-Date Gas Attachments
This Range can be had with the latest and most improved Elevated or End Gas Range attachments. It has a powerful hot water front or for country use a Large Copper Reservoir on the end opposite fire box. It can be furnished with two hot water outlets or left of oven as ordered. When the Ash Chute cannot be used an Improved Ash Pan is provided.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1911.

The Gazette and Transcript is printed and mailed Friday afternoons, and is for sale at all news-stands in the Weymouth and at the South Terminal, Boston.

All communications must be accompanied with the name of the writer, and unpublished communications cannot be returned by mail unless stamps are enclosed.

Notices of all local entertainments to which admission fee is charged must be paid for at regular rates, 10 cents per line in the reading matter, of regular rates in the advertising columns.

Owing to yesterday's holiday and the receipt of much matter this morning quite a little of it is necessarily omitted or carried over to another week.

We are reminded just at this time of the story of Columbus and the egg but at the present price of eggs, few, if any, are likely to experiment to prove that Columbus actually did the trick. We can, however, ask why eggs are from 50 to 60 cents a dozen when they can be produced for 17 or 18 cents.

The town hall will be the center of attraction next Monday for the first Republican Rally of the campaign. Lt. Gov. Frothingham, Hon. John W. Weeks, Hon. Joseph Walker, Hon. John E. White, Hon. Geo. L. Barnes and William J. Holbrook are on the list of speakers.

One of our exchanges, which has got more facilities than we have, put in a plea last week for 1,000,000 new subscribers. We do not want a million we couldn't handle it if we had it. All we want is five hundred and if you will be one of the five hundred we will do what we can in our ad elsewhere in this issue. Kindly read it.

Selectmen's Meeting.

At the meeting of the selectmen on Monday evening was granted to Geo. W. Young to conduct a pool room. On this, Torrey and John Donavan were drawn as jurors to serve at the Superior Court at Dedham.

The Board voted to call for proposals from the different coal dealers to supply town departments, other than schools, with coal.

Voted to approve the sale of six notes of $1,000 each authorized by the last town meeting to be issued by the treasurer with the approval of the board, the Weymouth Water Board being the purchasers.

Voted to permit Gerald Savage to construct a concrete sidewalk along the line of his property on Bridge street, a distance of about 1,000 feet, subject to the approval of the Highway Commission.

Mrs. Emily P. Thayer.

In the death of Mrs. Emily P. Thayer of Weymouth, on Oct. 5th, last, the Union Church loses one of its oldest and most respected members, and the town of Weymouth a life-long resident and honored citizen.

Emily P. Davis, for that was her maiden name, came of patriotic New England stock. Her father, a Maine man, was a soldier in the war of 1812.

Emily Phoebe, the daughter of Robert and Mary Hennessey, was born in Weymouth, March 13, 1834. She was educated in the public schools of Weymouth and was married at an early age about eighteen to William Gardner Thayer of Weymouth.

Mrs. Thayer's husband, like her father, was also a soldier. Rallying to the defense of the Union, he was killed in the Civil War, in which he was severely wounded in battle, receiving a bullet through the windpipe, which caused him prolonged suffering until his death, which occurred 1880.

Mrs. Thayer was deeply interested in patriotic organizations. She was a charter member of the Weymouth Relief Corps of Weymouth, and, though she could never be persuaded to accept public office, was always an active worker.

She was also actively interested in the work of the Ladies' Cemetery Improvement Association, working for its funds and contributing generously to its interests with her time and strength.

She was admitted to membership of the Union Congregational Church of Weymouth and Braintree, May 8, 1864, and for more than 47 years never lost her love for or her interest in her church and the work which it sought to do in the community.

In her younger years she taught a class in the Sunday School and frequently in later years referred with pride and affection to those who had been her former pupils.

For the last 22 years Mrs. Thayer made her home with the family of the late Mr. John Phillips, who had married her sister, Mary Elizabeth. Upon the death of Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Thayer, known to her intimate friends as "Aunt Emily" came into the home made motherless, to be a kind and tender mother to the sons, George and Henry, and the daughter, Elizabeth Sherman, a young widow with a year-old boy.

Mrs. Thayer was aptly characterized as a "Bible woman" that is one of the faithful ones, such as the "good book" describes. The whole community is enriched by the gentle witness of her faithful life.

The funeral services were held at her late home, Sunday Oct. 8th, and were conducted by her pastor, Rev. Robert H. Crockett, assisted by Rev. Frank B. Cressey of Cambridge, formerly pastor of the Weymouth Baptist Church, a former neighbor and friend of many years. Also there was a service by the Woman's Relief Corps, the interment was in the village cemetery.

W. R. C. Notes.

Several members of Corps 102 and some members of Post 58, visited the Soldiers' Home Wednesday, October 11. After the entertainment in the hall party was greatly appreciated, the entire party visited the hospital wards and gave an impromptu concert for the sick and in Arm.

SOUTH SHORE COMMANDERY K. T.

Reception, Banquet, Installation and Social Hour With Dancing.

The installation of officers of South Shore Commandery Knights Templars, for the ensuing year, and other events connected with the same were enjoyed by about two hundred people at Masonic building, East Weymouth, Monday evening.

The reception began at 6.30 in charge of the following committee: Em. Sir Arthur W. Barr, Em. Sir William S. Wallace, Em. Sir George Cushing, Em. Sir T. John Evans, Em. Sir Francis A. Bicknell, Em. Sir David J. Pierce, Em. Sir Eben H. Cain and among the distinguished guests were R. E. Grand Commander J. Albert Blake, G. C. of the Grand Commandery of Massachusetts and Rhode Island; Grand Lecturer, Henry H. Litchfield; Grand Warder, R. Walter Hilliard; Em. Sir Charles E. Pierce, St. Amer. Commandery; and Em. Sir Albert W. Fay, Quincy.

At 7 o'clock a line was formed and a march to the banquet hall was made where the table was in charge of Em. Sir Charles T. Humphrey and the fine menu was enjoyed by nearly two hundred members and guests, which included wives, daughters, sisters and other lady friends.

The banquet was followed by the installation with Em. Sir Henry A. Yenchak, Past Grand Lecturer, as installing officer, ably assisted by Em. Sir L. W. M. Woodbridge as Warder. Following are the installed:

Elected officers—Commander, Frank W. Bates; generalissimo, Gardner R. P. Barker; captain general, Edward B. Pratt; senior warden, Charles G. Jordan; junior warden, J. Burton Reed; grand scribe, Frederick H. Langhurst; sword bearer, Walter E. Tirrell; warden, John N. MacPherson; sentinel, Percy B. Cook; organist, Bertrand W. Maxing; 3rd guard, Ralph C. Stoddard; 2nd guard, Russell H. Whiting; 1st guard, Edwin W. Hunt; assistant guards, David D. Randall; William E. Ames; Arthur B. Maynard.

There is a degree of sameness to all installing ceremonies and yet there are always exceptions to the general rule and the sameness and exception passed along in good order and reflected credit upon the installer and the installed.

The next event was in charge of the following dancing committee: Em. Sir Eben H. Cain, Sir Knight Charles G. Jordan, Sir Knight Leavitt W. Bates, Sir Knight William P. Denbrower, and Sir Knight Harry J. Beck, and with a strong orchestra led by Bertrand W. Maxing, the floor was the scene of enjoyment not only to those who joined in the dance but to the spectators who lined the walls.

Like all events this came to an end and Em. Sir Arthur W. Barr passed out of office with congratulations on the success of his administration, and at the same time, South Shore Commandery is to be congratulated on having a very promising successor to the office in the person of Em. Sir Frank W. Bates.

Pointers for the Motorist

If there is any one thing that contributes most towards premature tire destruction, it is undoubtedly traveling on tires that are not sufficiently inflated.

"Many motorists," says the Michelin tire man, "give so little care to their tires that the first indication of their improper condition comes when a muffled sound or a jolt, caused by one of the wheels coming in contact with some hard object on the road, discloses the fact that the rim is touching the ground."

"The envelope is then patched, a new tube fitted and a garter put on the driver to prevent increased strength. The purpose then proceeds to the nearest garage where a new envelope is obtained, the damaged one being left for repair."

"It is always it is found that the road is the only part of the envelope that has not been totally destroyed. The beads are found to be broken or torn away. The walls of the envelope are scored and scraped inside and out. The canvas is torn and frayed and has lost its shape entirely. The several parts are disengaged, the tube, replaced on the road, which was perhaps new or nearly new when the journey started, has been torn beyond all hope of repair and scraped and scored all over, so that the incisions being almost as deep as the thickness of the rubber itself."

All this delay, trouble and expense is the direct result of traveling on a deflated tire, whereas periodic inspection of the air pressure would have entirely prevented the damage."

There are dozens of other equally interesting subjects relative to the proper care of tires dealt with in the "Book of Rubbers" issued free to motorists by the Michelin Tire Company of Milltown, New Jersey.

Special to the Gazette and Transcript.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—One can never tell where an innocent-looking exhibition may lead one. San Diego has been required to train and to equip a city of 100,000 people with a new municipal affairs—the management of a city forage farm, which Director General D. C. Collier is godfather.

It has already been told about the city forage farm. That was something of a novelty, and it looked like a good thing. It was to grow hay and have the mayor and aldermen inspecting the crop and speculating whether it was time to start the mowers going—well, we may properly ask, what next?

The flower farm is being operated by the city park commission to propagate and grow the flowers, vines, ferns and trees required for the Exposition to be held in that city in 1915. The city forage farm now has begun work of putting in about 350 acres of hay and grain with which to feed the 500 or 600 horses and 100 cattle owned by the city in its different departments. There are years when "hay is king" in San Diego, and this has been one of them. Farmers in that country cut four and six crops of alfalfa a year; some as high as eight. In spite of this there is at times a dearth of hay, both alfalfa and grain. The city forage farm has figured out that he can plant about 350 acres of the city "pueblo" lands to hay and grain and save the city money on its feed bills.

The flower farm has been such a success that the forage farm was told to ahead and raise hay for the city stock. If he raises too much he will be allowed to sell the surplus. If he succeeds, the Exposition Division of Works will buy its feed from him, thus giving him a revenue from the first crop.

PLANS AGAIN ENLARGED.

For the third time, the plans for the San Diego Panama California International Exposition, 1914, have been recast and enlarged. This was made necessary by the constantly enlarging scope of the Exposition. Frank P. Allen, Jr., Director of Works, announced that his Exposition will be the most beautiful, unique and artistic ever held.

THE NAVAL REVIEW.

President Taft is expected to review the Atlantic fleet at New York on October 21st. It will be a magnificent naval pageant. On the same day the Pacific fleet will be reviewed and Los Angeles.

Foreign nations are likely to wonder what the significance of this naval review is, but it really means nothing of the kind. It is their learning something about our ability to put a great fleet in active service at short notice, that is merely incidental.

SCHLEY'S FIDELITY.

Dying as he had hoped to die, quickly and without pain, Admiral Schley was acclaimed, even by those who had opposed him in life, a naval hero and a great commander. His funeral was one of the biggest the Capital ever saw, and many thousands of residents turned out to see the cortege pass, and to bow reverently before the corpse of a brave man who was borne past them.

FAINS MR. CARRIGUE.

The little affair between Italy and Tripoli is doubtless very distressing to Mr. Carrigue, just as he seemed to be getting along very nicely with his plans for universal peace. However, it is a pretty good demonstration of the need of doing something to stop wars and substitute arbitration. The direction of the King of Italy is to indicate that he is with Mr. Carrigue at heart, and as soon as he shall have finished this job he may join the Peace Society.

A Wonderful Story of the Glenwood Range.

For more than a hundred years Taunton, Massachusetts, has been famous for its stoves. The craft of molding, casting and setting up a range seems to have been in the city to have been handed down, father to son, for generation to generation. And yet, mention Taunton today, and the mind pictures a Glenwood Range. Just thirty-two years ago three young men started making stoves in a barn at Taunton. One was a designer and pattern maker, one a foundry boss, and the third a skilled molder. They all turned carpenter long enough to add a shed to their barn in order to accommodate their melting furnace.

If the casts came through all right, their output ran up to four ranges a day. One of the first claims ever made by the Glenwood Range was in its own name, "Glenwood Makes Cooking Easy." This modest claim appealed at once to busy housekeepers, and it rang true from home to home as fast as Glenwoods were put in, until today 500,000 users know "Make Cooking Easy" means "Glenwood Range."

There are one hundred and fifty parts to the average Glenwood Range, and as each part comes from its casting box, it is marked with the initial of the workman who made it, if anything is wrong it is easy to place the blame.

The guarantee which the makers give with each Glenwood Range is a model of simplicity and reads—"Our responsibility does not end with the sale of this range or heater, but continues until it gives the service and satisfaction that it was intended to give."

At present there is a Glenwood Range set up and shipped every three minutes in the day. It is a generation the business has increased from four ranges a day to one range in just the length of time it has taken you to read this story.

Monday Club.

The next meeting of the Club, October 16, will be in charge of Mrs. Eleanor Holmes. Committee on Current Events and Mrs. Elbridge Nash, Committee on Civics. Rev. R. H. Dix will speak on Current Events, and Mrs. Ella Sheppard Gallagher will read her paper on "Civic Arts," an argument in favor of more artistic surroundings as the outgrowth of civic betterment. An interesting meeting is assured. Members are urged not to forget the woman's Exchange, this year in charge of Mrs. Melzar Burrell.

Weymouth Industrial Association.

The annual meeting of the Weymouth Industrial Association (Incorporated) was held in Masonic building, East Weymouth last night with president Fred Humphrey in the chair.

Reports of the secretary and treasurer showed a satisfactory condition in regard to the Keith factory and other property and a dividend of two percent was declared on the capital stock of the association. The pay roll at the Keith factory for the year has been $270,000 and a communication from the Geo. E. Keith Co. indicate a larger business for the ensuing year.

Officers elected for the next year were: Fred Humphrey, president; M. P. Garey, secretary; W. H. Pratt, treasurer; Eldon B. Keith, Geo. A. Walker, Henry E. Harvey, Geo. E. Rickford, Gordon Willis and W. J. Denbroeder, executive committee; John A. Raymond and Albert B. Smith, trustees; Henry A. Nash and Theron L. Tirrell, auditors.

Brocton Fair

The Brocton Fair of 1911 was as usual a grand success and, with the exception of one day, good weather prevailed throughout. "The big show" opened Tuesday with a fine day for everything and on the initial day, as is always the case, the children held sway and all day crowds of boys and girls swarmed the midway and the exhibition hall and participated in the many events arranged for the youngsters' amusement by the children's day committee.

Wednesday, the weather man turned on the rain valve and the fair ground was a dreary place indeed, but this fact did not detain many from attending the show and in spite of the wet condition of things, all enjoyed themselves who "took a chance" and went to the big fair.

Thursday was the big day of the fair as it was Boston day and an enormous crowd went to the grounds on autos, cars, street cars and on foot, and the racing, athletic and other events on the program were of the usual high order and the weather man helped out with a splendid day.

Friday was Governors' day as well as Florence's day and another large gathering was present to witness the muster and the horse and carriage race from Boston to Brocton, which was won this year by Clarence DeMar of Melrose in the time of 2 hours, 29 minutes and 55.45 seconds. R. F. Pigotts of Melrose finished second this year as he did last year. Willie Hackett of North Weymouth won the event last year.

The farmers' muster was won by the Fountain Hand of South Hadley Falls, R. I., with a play of 225 feet, 10 inches. The White Angel of Salem was second and the City of Somerville engine third. The Hancocks of Brocton came in fourth and the Protective of the same city fifth.

There were nineteen prizes won by four special prizes in the muster, the first prize being $300. The prize for the engine playing the shortest stream went to the Hingham Vets who broke down and only played 144 feet, 7.9 inches. The prize for the second shortest stream was awarded to the Gulf Stream of Fall River. They played 152 feet, 7.12 inches. The Fountain who took first prize, also took a prize of $25, for the other special prize distance and the other coming the prize for the visiting tub making the longest play, also went to the Fountain who cleaned up three prizes as their share of the day's events.

Basket ball and foot ball were going on continually during the four days and track events were held in the oval on two days.

The one great feature, however, of this year's fair was the airship flights by Lincoln Beachey and Harry N. Atwood. The former is well known on account of his recent daring flights at the Harvard aviation meets and also for his recent dangerous flight over the Niagara Falls. Atwood is the hero of the cross country flight a few weeks ago from St. Louis to New York City. Both of these sterling aviators entertained with sensational flights during the four days of the fair.

The horse show of this year's fair was as usual of the highest grade and the trotting was fast in spite of the fact that the track was heavy from so much rain.

The cattle and poultry shows were attended by a large number of admirers interested in stock and poultry and the judges in these classes fully participated in their decisions winners in the different breeds.

In the exhibition hall the merchants of Brocton displayed their wares and a grand showing was made by the trade departments of the city. The usual long lines of people were to be seen, and the showing of eight hundred models made by Brocton boys.

There was always a good deal going on where the stage shows were held and the large audience was much amused by the long program of acrobats, clowns and dancers, who never seemed to need in their efforts to please the onlookers.

The bands were a big feature of this year's fair, four well known bands discoursing music throughout the four days. The Walker band, Martland's band, Milo Burke's band and the City Theatre band were the ones who played the management and they did themselves proud especially in the consolidated numbers rendered during the parade of the four bands around the track each day.

Chariot racing and running races were held on the track and one who has witnessed a four horse chariot race, has danced a thrill indeed.

While the fair attendance this year was not quite as large as other years, it can be safely said however that the "fair of all fairs" is getting "bigger, busier and better," as the years pass by and the Brocton fair of 1912 is awaited by many thousands of people with the keen enthusiasm that one feels for such a grand time as is obtained, only at the biggest New England fair.

And surely you'll agree with them if you but one will try; There's nothing quite so tasty as Whitcomb's Green Apple Pie.

And many people in our town themselves will not deny; The pleasure at this time of year. Of a green apple pie.

Made from the best fruit to be found To keep our standard high; That's why so many people do Prefer our apple pie.

MASSACHUSETTS CORN SHOW.

A Great Educational Feature—What It Means to Massachusetts—the program.

Massachusetts farmers are supporting the managers of the Corn show to be held in Springfield November 7 and 8, in a way and with an enthusiasm which augurs well for the success of this effort to show what the Bay State can do in the production of the king of grains. There is every indication that every inch of available space in the big State Armory at Springfield, the use of which has been secured for the show, will be taken.

The cash prizes offered amount to more than $2000, so divided that every part of the state will be represented on the list of winners. Special attractions have been given the boys and girls in the prize list, and there is promise of a heavy junior entry.

Headquarters for the Corn Show have been opened in the Board of Trade rooms at Springfield, this organization lending every possible assistance to make the show a success. Mr. F. W. Hatch, a man of wide experience in the management of similar undertakings in the Middle West, is in charge of the show, assisted by an assistant manager and corn expert, Mr. A. D. Farrar, a practical agriculturist and graduate of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, brings to the work a wide acquaintance throughout the state and a knowledge of corn growing in Massachusetts.

The officers of the Massachusetts Corn Show are as follows:—President, Charles W. Bosworth of Springfield; Vice-Presidents, Clark V. Wood of Worcester, Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, Emmet Hay Naylor, Secretary of the Springfield Board of Trade; Secretary, William D. Hurd of Amherst; Treasurer, Glenn H. Snowy, Editor of the New England Homestead.

The following comes to us this week from Mrs. Margaret T. W. Merrill, a child of Weymouth, now more than 50 years of age and a resident of Portland, Me. In an explanatory note Mrs. Merrill says the verses were committed to memory in her childhood days in Weymouth.

To COLUMBUS DYING.

Soon with thee will all be over, Soon the voyage will be begun, That shall bear thee to discover Far away, a land unknown.

Land that each alone must visit, And no tidings bring to men; For no traveler once departed Ever hath returned again.

No carved wood—no broken branches, Ever drift from that far wild; He who in that sea on launches Meets no course of angel child.

Quit, now quit, my noble Sailor, These Azores, they are of earth; Guide thy drop with faith unaltered Where the Blessed Isles loom forth.

Where the Deep no plummet soundeth Fear no hidden breakers there; And the fanning wings of angels Shall thy bark, right onward bear.

Sweet thou now thy San Salvador? Him thy Saviour thou shalt hail; Where no storms no more assail thee, And thy hopes shall no more fail.

ON THE FARM

Read this column and you can have it delivered at your house with something new every week for a full year by sending $2.00 to this office now.

Most old orchards need manure, and the time to apply it is late in the summer or in the fall.

Dirty collars are probably as responsible for sore shoulders as lifting ones.

No man is in a better position to build up his soil than a dairyman, if he uses wisely the forces at his command.

One of the principal advantages of fall transplanting of trees is that it is a season of greater leisure to the farmer than the spring.

Never pasture too closely. Leaves are essential to plant growth and enough should always be left to promote a good growth of plants.

More attention should be paid to teaching young horses to walk fast than is done. A fast walking horse is a desideratum not often met with.

See that all fowls, young and old, are protected from many vint. It is now a good time to stop up all leaky roofs and battens up any holes that might cause direct draughts. Good care now means freedom from rump later. When fowls are kept healthy the money return is all the larger.

Irish and sweet potatoes should be dug as they mature. Do not let them remain in the ground after they are ripe. They will never keep so well as when dug as soon as ripe and carefully dried out. The injured and diseased tubers should be carefully sorted out as soon as possible after digging.

No man—farmer or what not—can afford to be a "cavager" man in his business. The product of the average farm in the United States is worth $850. The figures show that the farmer who uses the most improved implements and methods, produces 50 to 100 per cent more than the average. There are only about 200 good working days in the year on the farm, and every day must be made to count.—Kansas Farmer.

Preparations are being made on an extensive scale for the biennial New England Fruit Show, in connection with the industrial and educational exhibits of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, to be held in Horticultural Hall on Oct. 22-28. The entries will positively close on the 20th of this month, and all goods should be addressed to the New England Fruit Show, Horticultural Hall, Boston.

It is not good farming to spread over two acres the work and manure necessary for one, even if you double your production of grain. Good farming would put the work and manure of two acres on one and thus cause the two acres to produce the crop of two. The one may be called "dilute" farming and is entirely too thin; the other "intense" farming and will double the profit. It can never become too common.

There is no reason why we should refuse to plant trees. There are no varieties which seem to be blight-proof. In the writer's orchard Clapp's Favorite, Seckel, Tyson, Manning's Elizabeth, Lawrence, Bourne d'Ajou, Bonne de Jersey, and Gansell's Bergamot, all excellent varieties, and giving a considerable range of season, have never shown any inclination to blight, while Bunscock and Bartlett have been wholly destroyed by it; yet the infection has not spread to the other varieties grown all around and among the rows of Bartletts.

There is but one person whose welfare is as vital to the welfare of the whole country as is that of the wage-worker who does manual labor and that is the tiller of the soil—the farmer. If there is one lesson taught by history, it is that the permanent greatness of any state must ultimately depend more upon the character of its country population than upon anything else. No growth of cities, no growth of wealth can make up for a loss in either the strength or the character of the farming population. In the United States more than in any other country we should realize this and should prize our country population. When this nation began its independent existence it was a nation of farmers. The towns were small and were for the most part more seacoast trading and fishing ports.

DEHORNING CALVES WITH LYE
When the calf is two or three days old examine its head and as soon as the horns can be detected proceed as follows: Rub

a little lard or other grease into the hair around the horn. Have ready a can of concentrated lye that has been opened long enough to become softened by absorbing moisture from the air, roll a bit of muslin into a roll the size of a lead pencil, dip the end of it into the softened lye and rub the top of the starting horn until the skin looks red. A couple of days later examine the horns. If a scab has formed over the top of the horn the job is successful; if there is not a good scab, repeat the operation. One application is usually sufficient. This method is easy and safe, avoids the unpleasant task of cutting and sawing off grown horns and gives a better shaped head.—Missouri Ruralist.

CHILDREN TO GUARD BIRDS.

New Move At Annual Audubon Meeting—Boys and Girls Eager.

New York, October 14.—To enlist every American boy and girl in an army of young bird guards that may number millions, a conference of teachers from many parts of this country has today been called in connection with the annual meeting of the National Association of Audubon Societies on October 31st in this city. Men and women representatives of the school workers have offered personally to attend this gathering, while many others are sending in their support and suggestions for lining up their young charges to study nature and fight for the protection of the native birds. An advance guard of 10,000 children in the southern states has already been formed for this purpose by some six hundred teachers, and with the support of the schools and the necessary fighting funds, the Audubon workers hope to establish forces of thousands more in every section of the United States.

As ammunition for the proposed child host, millions of pamphlets telling of the habits and uses of American birds will be sent out from Audubon headquarters here. Armed with these and drilled in the study of nature, the boys and girls are to skirmish over their home country, feeding and providing shelter for the starving birds, whither and guarding them from thoughtless destruction by pot hunters. In the training that it is intended to thus give the youngsters of every locality, educational authorities are today declaring that splendid results in the development of young minds and faculties can be obtained.

"The chief hope of saving the valuable and beautiful birds for this nation lies in the children who form the coming generation," said T. Gilbert Pearson, secretary of the National Association of Audubon Societies, at its headquarters, 174 Broadway, in this city today. "Through our annual meeting will show increased adult membership and work in many other fields of bird protection, we believe the rally of our new army of children will mark the start of a most effective line of activity. The boys and girls are eager to help, and the idea is being taken up with enthusiasm by teachers everywhere."

Japanese Ingenuity.
A remarkable specimen of Japanese ingenuity and skill has just passed through the New York custom house. It is a complete set of false teeth carved entirely out of hardwood of a color exactly imitating the natural teeth. They are intended for actual use.

CHAPTER V.

A Disaster on the Road.

To me she was merely a woman whom I had become my duty to protect, and whatever of chivalrous feeling I may have held toward her was based upon nothing deeper than this knowledge. She had come to me under a star and in darkness, her form enveloped in a cavalry cloak, her face shrouded by the night. As to whether she was young or old I had no means of knowing, seeing only that the tone of her voice and the graceful manner of her riding made me confident that she had not lost the agility of youth. But beyond this vague impression (it was little more), and a fleeting gleam of the starlight in her eyes as she faced me in anger, I was as totally unaware of how she really looked as though we had never met.

Her very name was unknown to me. Who was this Major Brennan? Was he father, brother or husband? And was her name Brennan also? For some reason this last possibility was repugnant to me. Yet I know not why.

"You ride as though born to the saddle," I said pleasantly; and although I spoke low, we were so close together that my voice carried distinctly to her ears. "We have been sufficiently concerned to suppose that we are an accomplished pair to our Southern women."

"I have been accustomed to ride since childhood," she replied rather shortly, and I was conscious of a restraint in her manner far from pleasant. Yet I ventured upon one more effort at conversation.

"Is Major Brennan an officer on Sheridan's staff?"

"It was not a staff," she said, and I could not mistake the accent of vindictiveness in her voice—"that prisoners were obliged to converse against their will."

"I ask your pardon, I am sure," I returned soberly. "But my question was not altogether an idle one. I have chanced to meet several of General Sheridan's staff, and those possibly Major Brennan might have been of their number. Seeing that we must associate for a time, I naturally felt it would prove pleasant for both of us if we might discover some mutual tie."

There was no response.

The road we were following here took a sudden trend downward, and we could tell from the sharper ring of the hoofs, and the spitting of flinty sparks beneath us, that we were among rocks once more. Then out horses suddenly splashed into water, and I held them up long enough to drink. I felt thirst strongly myself and slipping out of the saddle I myself cantered.

"Would you care for a drink?" I asked, stemming the stream to reach her side, and holding the vessel with my easy grasp of her hand.

He actually believed her first impulse was to refuse haughtily this proffered civility from an enemy of her country, but the deep sense of need overpowered her to accept the offering. An other hill followed, and then another, and finally we swept swiftly down a long slope densely bordered by trees and with irregular piles of rock up and down the hillside.

"I caught a swift glimpse of a rough log house on the right, so set back among trees that I had doubted its real existence, when—there was a slip, the crunching of a stone, a stumble forward that fairly wrenched my hand loose from the woman's rein, and then, hopelessly struggling to regain his feet, my partner went down with a crash, head under, and I was buried heavily forward upon my face. Craig, startled at the sudden crash behind him, spurred back to learn the full extent of my disaster. By this time I had regained my feet.

"I'm all right, I think, sergeant," I said hastily, "but the sorrel has broken on her neck."

He began to swear at my ill luck but I stopped him with a gesture he knew better than to ignore.

"Enough of that," I commanded sternly. "Bad fortune is seldom bested by bad words. First of all, help me to drag this dead body out of sight."

On one side of us the bank fell away with such precipitancy that when we once succeeded in dragging our dead to the edge, we experienced no difficulty in sending it crashing down ward. The body plunged through the thick underbrush at the bottom of the gorge, where I knew it would be completely hidden, even in the glare of daylight, from the spying eyes of any troopers riding hard upon our track. As we rapidly worked on this disagreeable task, I thought and planned; two horses and three riders—one of these a woman in need of protection a dispatch to be delivered by day light, at all hazards. It was indeed a difficult proposition, and I saw only a single possible solution. One of our number must press on; two of us must remain behind. Which? I asked myself. If I rode with the dispatch and how eagerly I longed to do so! and succeeded in bringing Lee's message safe to Longstreet, I would be sure to see promotion, distinction, honor. On the other hand if I remained behind, and Craig successfully carried out the duty which had been especially entrusted to me I should be fortunate indeed to escape with a reprimand instead of more serious consequences. If failure resulted, it meant certain and deserved disgrace. Yet I could absolutely trust him with the dispatch; he was a soldier, and would faithfully perform a soldier's duty. More, he would carry the message with even greater certainty than I, for he knew the roads much better, and I wrote the words hesitatingly—I could not trust him there alone with the woman.

I glanced aside at him as I thus turned the perplexing situation over in my mind—a tall, gaunt mountaineer, whose sole discipline of mind and body had been the army; hardened by service until every muscle in his lean, swarthy frame was like steel, a cavalryman who would follow his leader into the very jaws of hell, but whose moral was those of the camp, and whose face revealed audacious devilry.

For the uncertain little dinner. The whole, which paper spread under the child's plate at the table and extending a little way beyond will protect the tablecloth. This will not be noticeable, especially if it is bought in sheeting and the pieces are cut and laid smoothly on the cloth. When a piece of paper is soiled it may be thrown away or burned and a fresh piece substituted.

USMC

A Goodyear Welt Shoe contains more value for the money than any other article of daily use you buy.

The masses of the people are wearing better shoes today than ever before.

The United Shoe Machinery Company by steadily reducing the machinery cost of making shoes, improving the machines on which shoes are manufactured, placing them in factories on reasonable terms and giving manufacturers an efficient service has made this possible.

The Boot and Shoe Recorder says: "One day's work will buy a better pair of shoes in the United States than it will anywhere else in the world by more than 30 per cent."

The item of machinery is the only item of cost in the manufacture of shoes which is lower today than in 1899, when the United Shoe Machinery Company was formed.

The products of the shoe factories of Massachusetts have greatly increased in value since the Company was formed in 1899. In 1900 they were valued at $117,000,000; in 1908 (the latest year for which statistics are at hand) at $170,000,000; and that was the year after a panic.

The operatives on this Company's machines in shoe factories are much more regularly employed and receive higher wages than operatives received under the conditions which prevailed before the formation of the Company.

At the New England Fair in the Mechanics Building, Boston, you will see a complete shoe-making plant, with the machines of the Company in actual operation making Goodyear Welt Shoes.

Sixty different machines out of the 300 manufactured by the Company are shown at work there, each needed in the manufacture of a high-grade Goodyear Welt Shoe.

Some of these machines are sold; some are leased; some are sold or leased as the shoe manufacturer may prefer. Most shoe manufacturers had rather lease than buy.

Visit the fair and learn for yourself the terms upon which the shoe manufacturer enjoys the use of each machine.

Ask questions. They will be answered.

United Shoe Machinery Company, Boston, Mass.

Crawford Ranges

supply them—no others can!

The Single Damper (patented), one motion—push the knob to "kindle," "bake" or "check"—the range does the rest. Damper mistakes impossible.

The Ash Hod in the base (patented). The ashes fall through a chute into a Hod, all of them, making their removal safe, easy, cleanly. The Coal Hod is alongside of the way.

The Oven has cup-joint heat flues that heat it in every part alike. No "cold corners," no "scorching spots."

The Fire Box and Patented Grates enable a small fire to do a large baking.

ON THE FARM

Read this column and you can have it delivered at your house with something new every week for a full year by sending $2.00 to this office now. More horses are spoiled by poor drivers than any other way.

Remove the seeds from the pumpkins before feeding them to the cattle.

New corn should be fed carefully, as fed in large quantities, it is apt to scour the birds.

The check-rein is a check, not so much on the head of the horse, as upon its general efficiency.

Remember when you plow in the orchard that the roots are very near the surface. Three inches is plenty deep enough.

Don't wait until the busy times next spring to clean up your garden, but start in this fall after the crops are out of the way to get everything in readiness for early spring work.

The fall, after all of the garden plants have been killed, is the best time to clean up the trash in the garden and burn it to prevent insects from spending the winter in it and be ready to lay eggs next year.

Most persons who use lima beans do not know how excellent they are when dried for winter use. They are as much better than the common bean as they are when used in summer. The seed almost always brings a high price in spring, and for this use is one of the most profitable crops that a farmer grows.

Weed out all the culls and surplus stock, which cannot be sold at good advantage, and send them off to market together with all the old fowls, if any are on hand, for they are never very profitable stock to keep after the second year. Early hatched pullets are far superior to two-year-old hens.

Look well after the water. Keep it always before the fowls, pure and clean, and renew it frequently. Do not let them eat snow. Do not let them drink water grown tepid in the sun. Why these things should be injurious we do not pretend to know, but a great many poultry men have found them so.

Gardeners who have tried the experiment of running a cultivator between the rows of a portion of their strawberry vines report a large increase both in size and quality of berries over those grown on adjoining vines, where the cultivator was not used. The experiment is worthy of trial by all who grow strawberries for the market.

One acre of corn stored in a silo is the equivalent of several acres of pasture. It never dries up and is always ready to feed. More silos and smaller ones, allowing a part to stand until summer, will be the future policy of men who want to enlarge their farms without adding to their acreage. The silo will help to make more big little farms. It is a part of the policy of putting one farm on top of another that is usually called advanced farming or intensive agriculture.

Pride, like charity, begins at home and the farmer who begins by taking pride in his farm and in his own affairs soon extends his interest to his community, for he can not long fail to see that the interests of the property owners of the entire community are so closely interrelated that the advancement of the one is largely dependent upon the other. The farmer who raises good crops soon will have good stock and he must then have good fences and good farms. Next he wants good roads to market and he wants good bridges in his roads; he wants good stores in his town and he will see the necessity of patronizing the home merchants in order to perpetuate the home town. Likewise he will want good churches and good schools, for he can not go far in scientific agriculture without realizing the value of schools, and when he acquires property he realizes the beneficial influence of the churches on the morals of the community.—The American Lumberman.

A pessimist is a person who tells you that what appears to be a silver lining in your cloud is only a low grade of oil.

GATHERED UP.

He is the richest who wants the least.

A million dollars will not buy a ray of sunshine.

Every auto speeder fancies himself, in name.

A man always has a ready listener when he is trying to persuade himself that he has been wronged.

While few are qualified to shine in company, it is in the power of most people to be agreeable.

You have to keep on doing things for a man for him to believe that you keep on being a true friend to him.

With contentment the lowest hotel is more of a palace than the loftiest mansion without it.

If the average man has occasion to generate a good, hearty laugh once a month, he is playing in great luck.

When a man is lost in the clouds nowadays it does not follow that he is a dreamer. He may be an energetic aviator seeking to break altitude records.

No man has ever been found who has so little confidence in himself as to think that he could not edit a newspaper better than the editor.

"I have cured myself by learning to chew my food." "What have you cured yourself of?" "The belief that if I remained away from the office for more than ten minutes at lunch time everything would go to the diabolical."

A Frenchman engaged in studying the English language declares that, inasmuch as a number of cows are called cattle, why a number of cats are not called cowtles is a thing that he can't understand.

She—"Did you ever get on a train when it was moving?"
He—"Yes—once."
She—"What was the sensation?"
He—"Ripping—for the woman."

A man in Pennsylvania made a bet that he could stay under water for two minutes and divided to win it. He stayed under 2 hours, and succeeded only in demonstrating that a fool's wager is a poor cause in which to risk and lose a life.

Young Man—So Miss Ethel is your oldest sister. Who comes after her?
Small Brother—Nobody ain't come yet, but pa says the first fellow that comes can have her.

"An expert politician nowadays," remarked the crossroads philosopher, "is a sort of human vacuum cleaner. He gets the dust and you can't see exactly how he does it."

A man is like a tree—looks pretty straight on the whole, but has a lot of crooked little branches that you don't notice until you get up close to him.

"Well, Hawkins, old man," said Witherbee, "has your wife decided where she will spend the summer?"
"Yep," said Hawkins. "Going abroad."
"So? And how about you?"
"Well, I don't know yet," sighed Hawkins. "I haven't decided whether to stay in town or go into bankruptcy."

An old parrot used to live in a public house bar where there was always a great trade on Saturday nights.

One evening the parrot, was missed. Search was made, and at length it was discovered in the middle of a field, surrounded by crows, who were steadily picking out its feathers.

As the rescuers approached the now half naked bird was heard to call out: "One at a time, gentlemen, if you please. If you'll only wait you'll all be served."

"When I came into the Union station the other morning, after traveling all night," said Hugh Kelly, at the Commercial club, "I went into the barber shop. When you spend the night in a sleeping car, I said to the barber, 'It doesn't improve your personal appearance, does it?' " "Well," said he, as he looked me over, "I don't know how you looked when you started, but perhaps you're right."

Our friend the plutocrat is talking with us, when the newsboy offers him the latest edition.
"No," our friend is saying, "I do not think any man can find his happiness in the possession of money. As for me, I have ceased to pursue it. Often I think I should be far more contented had I simply gone through life with a sufficient income to assure me of comfort. There is a—well what do you think of that? That second-rate newsboy has given me too little change out of that dime. Hey, there, stop him. Somebody grab the rascal!"
And he is running up the street, hot on the trail of the unprincipled wretch.

The Gazette and Transcript is printed and mailed Friday afternoons, and is for sale at all news-stands in the Weymouth and at the South Terminal, Boston.

All communications must be accompanied with the name of the writer, and unpublished communications cannot be returned to mail unless stamps are enclosed.

Notices of all local entertainments to which admission fee is charged must be paid for at regular rates, 10 cents per line in the reading matter, or regular rates in the advertising columns.

The world is shortly to be afflicted with another revised Bible with phonetic spelling. What we need is more a simplification of the Bible. Miss M. S. brought down from the mountains in the wilderness and that found in Christ's sermon on the mount.

When you write any communication to the Journal please remember that all unsigned communications go into the waste basket. Only this week we received three letters, two of which contained articles that were well worth space in the columns of the Journal but were unsigned so went the way of such articles—Canton Journal. Neither the Canton Journal or any other Journal can remedy this evil. Some people will keep right on doing it and then the editor because the article did not appear.

It may be said that almost the sole cause of whatever trouble we have ever had in the town has been the indifference of the people. There is never trouble in towns where people do their duty as citizens. Nothing harmful can ever come to this town, or any town, so long as the people attend to their civic duties, keep informed about town affairs, and attend the town meetings—Hyde Park Gazette. Our friend of the Hyde Park Gazette is all right and he is doing his duty as a citizen. We have never had in our town meeting when nearly five hundred people sat idly by and let the town be put in a hole. Men at town meeting who do not vote on important measures, had better be at home getting their gardens ready for spring planting.

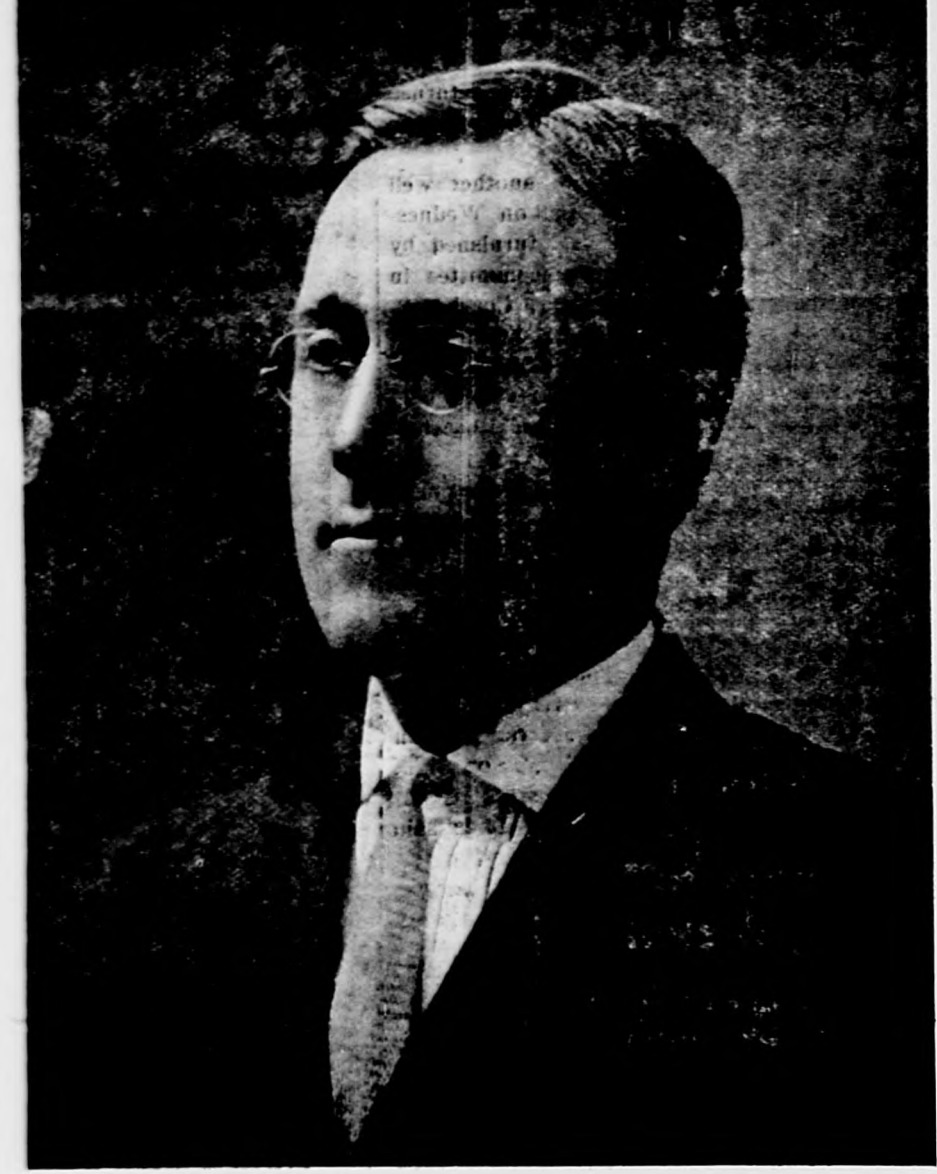

Only eleven days more to the election. The campaign thus far has been an active one on the part of political workers of both of the leading parties and it is now getting pretty close up to the voters to decide which side will win or who will be elected to the several offices, and speaking of voters, are you one, and if eligible and not a voter, why not? The registrars have been holding meetings in different parts of the town for the last month and most of those meetings have been without material addition to the list of voters and to date it does not compare favorably with the poll tax book published a few weeks ago. There are but two more chances to get on the list for this election. Tonight the registrars meet at the Engine House at Lovell's Corner and will hold their last session tomorrow from 12 m. to 10 p. m. in the Selectmen's room, Savings Bank building, East Weymouth. Weymouth should have at least 2,000 names on the list and with fair weather conditions on November 5, should poll 2,400 votes. Get on the list now and vote on November 7. There will be good men on the ballot to vote for and you will have your pick of the lot without announcing your choice to the public when the ward passes you a ballot.

There are matters in this issue and in every issue of the Gazette and Transcript which are worth your attention. Our local items are intended to cover the events of the town as far as it is possible for us to get them. Our miscellaneous department is selected with special care and in connection with this, we call your special attention to the series of articles being contributed by our new correspondent, "Evlyn Earle." The name may not be familiar to our readers but the author would be recognized by a host of friends and old schoolmates in Weymouth, and her articles, whether over the name of Evlyn Earle or —, are interesting and instructive and we expect to continue the series. Our advertising department has no equal among the suburban papers of the state. Our "On the Farm" is worth more than the subscription price to every florist, gardener, farmer or live stock man in town and now is the time to subscribe. If order is still open, your name accompanied by $2 will give you this until January 1, 1912, and also a choice 1912 calendar which will soon be ready for delivery.

No invention of the age has come to the front so rapidly and for such general use as the automobile. It has found a place in all manner of pleasure, travel and all kinds of uses for transportation of freight and merchandise. The money investment in it for the last decade has exceeded that of railroads or steamboats, which of course has added materially to the revenue of the wage earner and the manufacturer and also to the income of states and municipalities in the way of licenses. Along with it has also come immense losses of life and the problem is how to avoid this last feature or reduce it to a minimum and we would suggest that it can be materially reduced by the regulations in regard to licenses. There are commissioners for the purpose of examining applicants and to secure a license one must know, or is supposed to have, some knowledge of the construction of and handling a machine but we would go further, put the applicant to a test of his knowledge of the roads and their uses in such a way as our observation goes a large percent of the drivers of automobiles seem to have little or no knowledge of, possibly worse, regard. They will drive on either side of the middle of the road and in places where no road at all is indicated, by handling a horse would ever think of venturing. Our suggestion is no license until the applicant has had a road experience with teams and knows the difference by intuition between a hard road and a grass plot on the side and also by the same token something in regard to speed.

WILLIAM J. HOLBROOK

Candidate for Representative

To the voters of Weymouth, Gentlemen:
The State election will take place this year on Tuesday, November 7th.

To this town, the election this year of Republican candidates means much. Weymouth is dependent almost entirely for its industrial prosperity on the shoe industry.

The purpose of the democrats as shown by the bill which they forced through Congress last winter, is to remove the president of the Boot and Shoe Workers Union that such a result would do one or two things, close the factories or else force a reduction in wages to the level of the wages paid abroad, which is less than one-half the wages paid in the town of Weymouth.

The importance to the town of Weymouth to elect the republican candidate for governor and the rest of the Republican ticket cannot be overestimated because the election of the Democratic ticket would be an admission to the rest of the states of the Union that Massachusetts is content to have the tariff on shoes and other of her manufactures removed.

Not only is it important to Weymouth that the Republican candidate for governor, Mr. Forbush, should be elected, but it is equally important that our local candidate, William J. Holbrook, should also be elected to the legislature. His opponent has already served three terms in the legislature with which all his predecessors in the legislature have been content and satisfied.

William J. Holbrook has always been a resident of Weymouth, was educated in Weymouth schools until he took up the study of law in Boston. He worked industriously during the day and gained his education at law at night at the Boston Evening Law School and was admitted to the bar in 1906 and is now in independent practice on his own account in that city.

His legal reputation is of the highest and his honesty and integrity are beyond question. His career to date is an excellent example of the young man without means, endeavoring to work his own way and secure the success that industry and diligent study should produce.

It is such men as Mr. Holbrook that Weymouth ought to advance to positions of this kind if she is in the future to secure the position of prominence in state affairs that all her citizens so much desire. Especially should Weymouth encourage for her own interest the advancement of such of her own young men as is represented by Mr. Holbrook.

If elected to the legislature, Mr. Holbrook will represent this town honorably and well and in a manner to its credit. He is deserving and ought to receive the votes of all who are interested in the progress and advancement of the town's interest.

Men's Supper and Lecture.
About eighty men connected with the parish of the Union church with their guests and friends, sat down to a homelike supper in the banquet room of the church last Wednesday evening. The supper was prepared by Mrs. H. H. Goodspeed and Mrs. Ira P. Morrison and was fully up to the standard of excellence set by these splendid entertainers in the past. It consisted of clam chowder, rolls and pickles for the first course, then hot roast lamb, mashed potatoes, celery, coffee, ice cream, cake and macaroni.

Old Colony Gas Co.

Contracts for gas service are being signed in large numbers throughout the district. In fact, the force of service layers will soon have to be enlarged to keep up with the demand.

At the plant work is still going on putting up the various pieces of auxiliary apparatus, and making the necessary yard connections between engine room, generator room and the various boilers, purifiers and tanks. The coal pockets are well under way, as the foundations are all laid. The garage is now fitted up sufficiently for continuous occupation and is proving to be a very useful as well as an ornamental addition to the company's plant.

Gas mains of all sizes are now being laid in the various towns. In Abington and Whitman they are well under way, and in Braintree, Weymouth and Rockland are being put in place with all possible energy.

On last Tuesday evening, a goodly number of the employees of the company met in the accounting office in Washington Square, Weymouth, and formally organized the Progress Club of the Old Colony Gas Company. The following officers were elected: E. N. Vaughn, president; R. P. Lord, vice president; J. D. Creamer, secretary and treasurer. An executive board was also elected, consisting of J. Murphy, accounting department; Mr. Lang, manufacturing department; R. H. Hamilton, distribution department; and M. A. Carter, commercial department. The purpose of the club is to mutually benefit and instruct employees with a view to increasing their proficiency in the various departments of the Old Colony Gas Company.

Democratic Rally.
The Town hall was the center of attraction last night for a good number of people who gathered to hear the Democratic side of the argument in favor of the principals laid down by the party. Several of the speakers booked for the occasion were unable to be present but John F. Dwyer, the presiding officer, had quite an array of speakers including Hon. Roger Woodworth of Revere; Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston; G. W. Anderson, candidate for Attorney General; Hon. James H. Faby of Woburn; E. K. L. Shaw and Redner P. Coombs.

White—Hunter
Mr. Elmer G. White of Braintree, son of Herbert G. and Nora D. White, was married Oct. 25th, to Miss Elizabeth M. Hunter of Weymouth, daughter of George and H. Hunter by Rev. Robert H. Cochran, pastor of the Union church of Weymouth and Braintree.

Union Literary Circle.
The Union Literary circle held its regular meeting Tuesday evening, Oct. 24th at the home of Mrs. A. H. Romanus, Sumner street. The topics of the evening, "Shall Woman be given the Right of Suffrage?" was given in the affirmative by Mrs. Eleanor Holmes, who presented many strong arguments in its favor, giving statistics and telling of the many laws which had been enacted in her favor by the agitation of women and of the increase in numbers of intelligent women who are asking for the right to vote.

Miss McGregor for the negative spoke of the small number of women who apparently cared to vote and of the number of unintelligent women who would have the same privilege as the intelligent, of the fact that the laws for the betterment of conditions of women's property and person had been made with the vote of women, that women were represented by the husbands, fathers and brothers whose natural duty it was to protect the women of the home and that woman had not the ability to assume the extra demands that would be made upon her, if she were given the ballot.

After the leading arguments had been given, a general discussion of the subject followed and the evening closed with a song. The matter had been presented in a manner left the laurels evenly divided.

Parents—Teachers.
According to the Rockland Standard, there is a new organization in that town, called the "Parents—Teachers Association," organized for the purpose of bringing the parents in closer touch with the school.

The first meeting of the association was held last week and, if followed up, will no doubt result in much good and might well be followed up in other towns, or at least parents might well know more of school by personal touch with it.

Following are some of the points brought out at the first meeting of the Rockland association:
"Parents should visit the schools frequently and get in touch with the teachers. It costs $27 a year for the town to educate the pupil and repeaters are an added expense to the town."—Supt. Coggins.

"The best work in the schools depends upon the sympathy in the home. Parents can assist the pupils if they will."—John McDonnell, principal of the School street school.

"Some pay more attention to their cattle than they do to their children. They turn them loose in the schools and pay no more attention to them."—C. B. Collins.
"Cigarettes and moving pictures are responsible for listlessness in many of the children in the public schools. Their health should be looked after better."—Miss Mary Donovan.
"Get chimney with your boys and girls. See that they get plenty of sleep and good wholesome food. Give them good conditions to work with."—Frank A. Sheldon.

On Thursday evening a well rendered concert was given by the Standish Male Quartet of Boston, consisting of W. J. Mooney, first tenor; Otto E. Lewis, second tenor and accompanist; R. L.
